Weekly status:
This past week, we did not make much progress. There has been a great deal of tension amongst the group as to the work being done and the work expected to be done. A great deal of consideration and discussion this week has been dedicated to whether or not we should remain on the present project or to abandon this project and seek another one to pursue. We came to the conclusion that we want to remain on the present project, but a great deal more time and effort is going to be needed from everyone in the group.
