Weekly status:
This week the group has been continuing its research on QFP pin out converters as well as software interfaces to the DSP. We are also contemplating which type of microcontroller will be used in conjunction with the DSP, at this point we are mainly considered either a dual TI DSP/Microcontroller chip or a TI microcontroller along with a TI DSP chip we already have. In addition, more time has been spent on E421 reports, which is highly unfortunately since the financial analysis done there is largely contrived and does not seem to reflect real world situations. Additionally, the group has been continuing its efforts to narrow down a memory type for use with the unit.
