Weekly status:
Tried to find/meet up with professor McNair two times during the week in his office, however he was never there. Finally, we just ended up sending him an e-mail in regards to requesting the use of a microcontroller for the semester. We also tried to get in touch with professor Tewksbury one day, but he was in a meeting as well. After we can get our hands on a microcontroller, we should be on our way. I also spoke with my grandfather about the project and that we will be doing the prototype with switches. He worked for an alarm company for years and is still in contact with them. He has some switches to donate for us and I will be picking them up this week. Hopefully they will be what we are looking for.
