Weekly status:
This week saw a few snags in the works. First of all, Monday was a snow day, and we didn't have our normal group meeting. To make matters more complicated, I had a chemistry test on Tuesday that conflicted with our advisor meeting. I called a group meeting on Thursday to figure out how things were going. The group had a productive meeting with Prof. McNair on Tuesday and things were progressing nicely. Now that we have the interface devices we need, the programming can really pick up. Meanwhile, Sheila and I are working on getting the midterm report started. Our website is up and running as well. I think we should be just fine for this project.

Weekly report is due to Senior Design Coordinator and TA by Noon Monday. Email submission is greatly preferred - submit using WebCT, email to sd@koala.ece.stevens-tech.edu or individual emails. Copy should be sent to advisor
